NAMS

The National Academy of Medical Sciences, constituted as it is of highly selected leaders in biomedical sciences, is a unique institution which combines academic excellence as its goals. The Academy has been most fortunate in having received the blessings of late Shri Jawaharlal Nehru, the then Prime Minister of India who formally inaugurated the Academy on the 19th December, 1961. The first Convocation of the Academy in 1963 was graced by Dr. S. Radhakrishnan, the then President of India, who delivered the Convocation Address.

Over the years, the Fellowship of the Academy has become a most cherished and coveted hallmark of distinction awarded through a well-structured and regulated system of peer review, and is given in recognition of outstanding achievements in biomedical sciences, medical education, and professional excellence. In essence, the Academy advocates not only recognition of excellence, but also seeks relevance in excellence. The Academy constitutes a forum both for the acquisition of knowledge and for its translation to enhancing human health.
